

CONTRIBUTORS

Vyacheslav Abramov is the executive director of the MediaNet International Centre for Journalism in Almaty, Kazakhstan.

Susan Booyesen is a political scientist and professor at the Graduate School of Public and Development Management, University of the Witwatersrand, Johannesburg, South Africa. She specialises in democracy, policy and governance in Southern Africa, and in particular in South Africa.

Gerardo Caetano, PhD, is a historian and a political scientist. He is the academic director of the Training Centre for Regional Integration (CEFIR) at the Uruguayan Universidad de la República and a member of the Senior Council of the Latin American School of Social Sciences (FLACSO).

Milagros Campos served as assistant to the Peruvian presidential candidate Lourdes Flores Nano. Today she is a professor of Constitutional Law and Political Sciences at the Pontificia Universidad Católica del Perú, the Universidad de Lima and the Universidad del Pacífico in Lima.

Laura Dadomo is a research assistant at the Centre for Applied Municipal Research (CIMA) in Buenos Aires. She holds a BA in International Relations from the Pontificia Universidad Católica Argentina.

Moulay Driss El-Maarouf, MA, is a Cultural Studies scholar. At present he is doing his PhD thesis at the Bayreuth International School of African Studies (BIGSAS), investigating the cultural politics of Morocco.

Mourad el Fahli is a doctoral candidate with the Research Group on Migration and Culture at the Faculty of Letters, Mohammed V University, Rabat, Morocco. For his thesis he is working on the construction of space and identity in Moroccan diasporic cinema.

David Goertz, MA, is research assistant at the Research Group on Governance/NRW School of Governance at the University of Duisburg-Essen.

Karsten Grabow, Dr phil. habil., is the coordinator of the KAS Democracy Report at the head office of the Konrad-Adenauer-Stiftung in Berlin.

Ross Masood Husain served for more than fifty years in leading positions in the civil service of Pakistan. Later he was the founder and the first director general of the Institute of Strategic Studies. Mr Masood is an honorary professor and member of the boards of several universities in Pakistan and abroad, including the Institute for the Study of Indo-Pakistan Relations (INPAREL) at the University of Leicester, UK.

Ivars Ijabs, Dr, is assistant professor at the Department of Political Science at the University of Latvia, Riga.

Juan Fernando Jaramillo, Dr, is professor at the Faculty of Law, Political and Social Sciences at the Universidad Nacional de Colombia and a founding member of the Centre for the Study of Law, Justice and Society – DeJuSticia.

Tim Kallweit is project assistant to the KAS Democracy Report at the head office of the Konrad-Adenauer-Stiftung in Berlin.

Karl-Rudolf Korte, Dr, is professor of political science, head of the Research Group on Governance and director of the NRW School of Governance at the University of Duisburg-Essen.

Jerome Kuchejda, BA, is a political scientist. He is currently working as a trainee of the Konrad-Adenauer-Stiftung in Rabat, Morocco.

William A. Lindeke serves as a senior research associate for democracy and governance at the Institute for Public Policy Research (IPPR) in Windhoek, Namibia. Before that he was professor of political studies at the University of Namibia and at the University of Massachusetts Lowell (retired). He has authored or co-authored numerous book chapters and articles on Namibian politics and on topics related to the Southern African Development Community (SADC). He is the co-national investigator for round four of the Afrobarometer opinion survey in Namibia and a senior researcher on the Volkswagen Stiftung-funded project on "Reconciliation in the Aftermath of Large Scale Violence: the Cases of Angola and Namibia".

Ivo Lovrić, MA, is the editor at the Croatian News Agency (Hina) and a lecturer at the University Centre for Croatian Studies at the University of Zagreb.

Aura Matei and Irina Papuc are researchers at the Centre for Institutional Analysis and Development – Eleutheria in Bucharest, Romania.

Vasko Naumovski, Dr, is a law expert and one of the leading political scientists and commentators in Macedonia. Having taught at the Faculty of International Relations, Politics and European Studies of the New York University Skopje, in July 2009 he took up the position of vice prime minister for European Integration of the Republic of Macedonia.

André du Pisani is a professor of politics at the University of Namibia (UNAM). Formerly he held academic appointments at four South African universities, including the position of director of research at the South African Institute of International Affairs (SAIIA) at the University of the Witwatersrand in Johannesburg. His research interests include democratic theories, security system governance, conflict resolution and the political economy of Southern Africa. He has published widely in these areas and has coordinated the work in Namibia of the Southern African Defence and Security Management Network (SADSEM) for the past decade. He is the Namibia coordinator of, and a senior researcher on, the Volkswagen Stiftung-funded project on "Reconciliation in the Aftermath of Large Scale Violence: the Cases of Angola and Namibia".

Eugene Sensenig-Dabbous, PhD, is associate professor at the Department of Political Science/Lebanese Emigration Research Center (LERC) at Notre Dame University in Zouk Mosbeh, Lebanon.

Sallie Simba Kayunga, PhD, is a senior lecturer at the Department of Political Science and Public Administration, Makerere University, Kampala, Uganda.

Luvsandendev Sumati studied mathematics and cybernetics at Moscow State University. After graduation he worked as a researcher at the Institute of Mathematics and later at the Center of Informatics of the Mongolian Academy of Sciences. Since 1994 Mr Sumati has been the executive director of the Sant Maral Foundation, an institute that conducts political surveys and opinion polls on a variety of issues.

Horia Terpe is the director of the Centre for Institutional Analysis and Development – Eleutheria in Bucharest, Romania.

Gerhard Wahlers, Dr, is deputy secretary-general of the Konrad-Adenauer-Stiftung and head of the Department of International Cooperation.

Kristina Weissenbach, MA, is research assistant at the Research Group on Governance/NRW School of Governance at the University of Duisburg-Essen.