

List of contributors

Ambunda, Lotta N is a student assistant at the Human Rights and Documentation Centre. She holds a B Juris degree and is in her first year of an LL B at the University of Namibia. Ms Ambunda originates from a small village in Ompundja in northern Namibia, where she attended elementary school. She completed secondary school at St Joseph's Roman Catholic School in Windhoek. Latest publication: Ambunda, L & S de Klerk. 2008. "Women and custom in Namibia – A research overview". In Ruppel, OC (Ed.). Women and custom in Namibia: Cultural practice versus gender equality?. Windhoek: Macmillan Namibia, pp 43–82. E-mail: lottanambunda@hotmail.com

Anyolo, Prisca N studied law at the University of Namibia. She obtained a B Juris, a Specialised Certificate in Customary Law, and an LL B in 2007, 2008 and 2009, respectively, from the University of Namibia. She is currently doing her LL M at the same university. Prior to studying law, she obtained a Diploma in Public Administration and Development Studies and an Advanced Diploma in International Relations and Diplomacy from the United Nations Institute for Namibia in Lusaka, Zambia. She became the first Town Clerk of the Rehoboth Town Council in 1992. She served as Secretary to the Council of Traditional Leaders from 1999–2004 under the then Ministry of Regional and Local Government, Housing and Rural Development. During the Namibian liberation struggle, Ms Anyolo was a youth leader and political commissar. She has also published in the field of customary law. Latest publication: Anyolo, P. 2008. "Polygyny among the Ovambadja: A female perspective". In Ruppel, OC (Ed.). Women and custom in Namibia: Cultural practice versus gender equality?. Windhoek: Macmillan Namibia, pp 83–92. E-mail: anyolop@gmail.com

Bösl, Anton is the Konrad Adenauer Foundation Resident Representative for Namibia and Angola. Dr Bösl holds a PhD in Philosophy from the Ludwig-Maximilians-Universität in Munich (Germany), and a PhD in Theology from the Albert-Ludwigs-Universität in Freiburg (Germany). Latest publication: Bösl, A & J Diescho (Eds). 2009. Human rights in Africa. Windhoek: Macmillan Namibia. E-mail: info.namibia@kas.de

Chipepera, Faith completed her B Juris and LL B degrees at the University of Namibia (UNAM). She has worked as a graduate assistant at the UNAM Legal Aid Clinic and as a legal researcher at various institutions. She is currently a Public Prosecutor in Outjo. E-mail: fchipepera@yahoo.com

Conteh, Michael holds a Master's degree in Development Studies from the Institute of Social Studies (ISS) in The Hague, The Netherlands. As a researcher/lecturer and gender trainer, Mr Conteh has researched women's issues, social and developmental issues in Namibia such as HIV and AIDS, poverty and gender, and has demonstrated extensive knowledge in gender sensitisation and awareness training workshops, gender budgeting, community discussions facilitation, participatory poverty assessment, key informants interviews, focus group discussions, and report writing. Mr Conteh directs the Gender Training and Research Programme (GTRP), and organises and conducts gender training, awareness and sensitisation workshops, the participants of which include government ministries, heads of non-governmental organisations, directors and other top-level government, parastatal and civil society representatives, as well as the youth. Mr Conteh's research achievements, to mention but a few, include participating in a recent national assessment on human trafficking in Namibia, commissioned by the Ministry of Gender Equality and Child Welfare (MGEWC) with support from the United States Agency for International Development; a workbook on human trafficking and gender-related matters for the Parliamentary Women's Caucus of the National Council of Namibia; understanding the perpetrators of violent crimes against women, a study commissioned by the University of Namibia, the Ministry of Safety and Security and Women's Action for Development in 2006–2007; management of a nationwide gender survey in 2000; a multi-regional study of women's rights to inheritance during 2000 to 2005; and research on men's and women's attitudes towards gender equality in 2001. Mr Conteh has edited publications such as that published in 2004 on the structural conditions necessary for the progression of the HIV and AIDS pandemic in Namibia, and contributed a section in Beyond inequalities: Women in Namibia, representing research jointly undertaken jointly by the GTRP and the Southern African Research and Documentation Centre. Latest publication: Conteh, M, D LeBeau & Eunice Iipinge. 2005. Women's property and inheritance rights in Namibia. Windhoek: Pollination Publishers/UNAM. E-mail: mconteh@unam.na

Coomer, Rachel is the Public Outreach Manager for the Gender Research and Advocacy Project at the Legal Assistance Centre, where she produces a range of educational material, engages in advocacy, conducts research, disseminates research findings and takes responsibility for media liaison. Rachel is a graduate of the University of Oxford in the United Kingdom. Rachel has assisted the Ministry of Gender Equality and Child Welfare with its consultation process around the proposed Child Care and Protection Bill, and has worked with the Ministry of Education on the development of a draft policy for the prevention and management of learner pregnancy. Latest publication: Coomer, R. 2008. Addressing gender-based violence through community empowerment: A guide for community activists. Windhoek: Legal Assistance Centre. E-mail: rcoomer@lac.org.na

Dausab, Yvonne is a full-time lecturer at the Faculty of Law, University of Namibia. She holds an LL M from the University of Pretoria (South Africa), and a BA (Law) and an LL B from the University of the Western Cape (South Africa). Ms Dausab is an admitted Legal Practitioner of the High Court of Namibia. Latest publication: Y Dausab. [Forthcoming]. "The Disclosure Provision in terms of sections 113, 114, 115 of the CPA (Act No. 25 of 2004): Their potential effect on the right to a fair trial". E-mail: ydausab@unam.na

De Klerk, Veronica C has headed one of Namibia's most prominent women's movements – Women's Action for Development (WAD) – for the past 14 years. WAD empowers both women and men in the socio-economic and social upliftment fields of development across Namibia, and actively strives to advance women's status in Namibian society. Together with Bishop Zephania Kameeta, she was nominated by Global Call to Action against Poverty (GCAP) in 2006 as a Goodwill Ambassador for Namibia, in recognition of the exemplary work WAD has performed in reducing poverty in the country. Ms De Klerk is acknowledged in the Guide to Namibian Politics as one of 192 individuals that have influenced politics in Namibia. In 2005, the French Association of Friendship and Solidarity with African Peoples (AFASPA) nominated her as one of 52 African Women Who Make Africa Move. In 2007, the Minister of Works, Transport and Communication, Hon. Joel Kaapanda, nominated Ms De Klerk as Namibia's Road Safety Ambassador. Latest publication: De Klerk, V. 2008. "Women's Action for Development: 15 years of experience with customary practice in rural Namibia". In Ruppel, OC (Ed.). Women and custom in Namibia: Cultural practice versus gender equality?. Windhoek: Macmillan Namibia, pp 33–42. E-mail: vdeklerk@mweb.com.na

Hangula, Moudi holds a B Juris degree and is currently in her final year of LL B studies at the University of Namibia. E-mail: moudihangula@yahoo.com

Hasheela, Victoria was born in Endola in the Ohangwena Region, Namibia, in 1985. She is pursuing a career in the field of Computer Science. She is currently doing her Master's in Business Informatics at the University of Mannheim (Germany). Latest publication: Nghaamwa, TM & VT Hasheela. 2007. Shower of voices. Windhoek: John Meinert Printing. E-mail: vihash@gmail.com

Hinz, Manfred O studied law and philosophy at the University of Mainz (Germany), where he graduated in law. He did his Legal Practitioner examination in 1964, the year in which he also obtained his PhD from the University of Mainz. After studying anthropology, sociology and African and Oriental languages at the same University, he became assistant lecturer, teaching Anthropology and Public Law. In 1971, he was appointed full Professor at the University of Bremen. In 1989, he went to Namibia where, after Independence, he assisted the Ministry of Justice. He joined the University of Namibia's Faculty of Law upon its inception. Prof. Hinz holds the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organisation's Chair for Human Rights and Democracy in the Law Faculty's Human Rights and Documentation Centre. Prof. Hinz has published widely in his areas of specialisation, in particular in the fields of Legal and Political Anthropology, and Constitutional and International (Economic) Law. Latest publications: Hinz, MO & HK Patemann (Eds). 2006. The shade of new leaves: Governance in traditional authority – A southern African perspective. Münster: LIT Verlag; Hinz, MO & OC Ruppel (Eds). 2008. Biodiversity and the ancestors: Challenges to customary and environmental law. Case studies from Namibia. Windhoek: Namibia Scientific Society. E-mail: okavango@mweb.com.na

Hubbard, Dianne is the Coordinator of the Gender Research and Advocacy Project at the Legal Assistance Centre. She holds degrees in English literature from the University of North Carolina (United States of America) and Stellenbosch University (South Africa), and a law degree from Harvard Law School (USA). Her primary areas of research are gender-based violence and family law, and she has worked in partnership with government on a variety of law reforms relating to women and children. She taught a course in Gender and the Law at the University of Namibia for two years, and has served on Namibia's Law Reform and Development Commission subcommittees on domestic violence, divorce and marital property. Latest publications: Hubbard, Dianne. 2007. Rape in Namibia: An assessment of the operation of the Combating of Rape Act. Windhoek: LAC; LaFont, Suzanne & Dianne Hubbard (Eds). 2007. Unravelling taboos. Windhoek: Legal Assistance Centre (LAC). Hubbard, Dianne. 2008. Baby-dumping and infanticide. Windhoek: LAC; Hubbard, Dianne. 2008. Stalking: Proposed new legislation for Namibia. Windhoek: LAC. E-mail: dhubb@africaonline.com.na

Kangandjela, Lena N is a fourth-year LL B student at the University of Namibia and a Chief Development Planner for Women and Family Development at the Ministry of Gender Equality and Child Welfare. She holds a B Juris as well as a Bachelor's in Education and a Postgraduate Diploma in Gender and Development Studies from the University of Namibia. E-mail: lex1229@yahoo.com

Mapaure, Clever studied law at the University of Namibia. He graduated with B Juris in 2007, and in 2008 he graduated cum laude in the Specialised Certificate in Customary Law. In 2009 he obtained an LLB cum laude, and was awarded the Vice-Chancellor's Medal as UNAM's Best Undergraduate Student. Mr Mapaure currently works a Legal Advisor to the UNAM Student Representative Council (SRC) and a Master of Laws Candidate specialising in environmental law. Latest publications: Mapaure, C. 2009. "Jurisprudential aspects of proclaiming towns in communal areas in Namibia". Namibia Law Journal, 1(2):23–48; Hinz, MO & C Mapaure. 2009. "Legal pluralism and the apartheid past: Challenges to Namibian family law reform and development". Family Law (Eds). International survey of family law. Bristol: Jordan Publishing Ltd, pp 301–327. E-mail: mapaurec@live.com

Mchombu, Chiku has a Master's in Library and Information Studies from the University of Botswana. She also obtained a Social Sciences degree at that University, where she majored in Accounting and Public Administration, as well as a Diploma and Certificate in Library Studies. Additional qualifications include a Certificate in Human Rights and one in Gender in Development. She is a Senior Documentalist at the Human Rights and Documentation Centre (HRDC) at the University of Namibia (UNAM), and teaches part-time courses on Special Libraries and Documentation Centres, Collection Development, Basic Information Science, and Modern Librarianship at UNAM's Information Studies Department. Some of her achievements are setting up documentation centres such as those at Botswana's Ministry of Finance, the Central Statistics Office in Gaborone, at the United Nations Children's Fund office in Gaborone, and at the HRDC. Her areas of interest include information provision on HIV and AIDS, orphans and other vulnerable children, and information and human rights. She is currently a part-time PhD student at the University of Zululand (South Africa). Latest publication: Mchombu, CM, J Mostert & D Ocholla. 2009. "Information needs and information-seeking behavior of orphans and vulnerable children and their caregivers in Okahandja, Namibia". African Journal of Libraries, Archives and Information Science, 19(1):39–52. E-mail: cmchombu@unam.na

Mugadza, Willard T is an international assistant at the Human Rights and Documentation Centre and a student in his third year B Juris studies at the University of Namibia (UNAM). He was the Best Non-final Year Student in UNAM's Faculty of Law for the 2008 academic year. In 2009, he participated in the African Human Rights Moot Court Competition in Lagos, Nigeria, organised by the University of Pretoria in South Africa. He completed his primary and secondary education in Zimbabwe. Prior to studying law, he worked in Zimbabwe as a banker for three leading financial Institutions before joining Screenlitho Printing Private Company where he rose through the ranks to become its Personnel and Administration Manager, the position he last held before enrolling at UNAM. E-mail: wt.mugadza@yahoo.com

Mudzanapabwe, Joab T is a Clinical Psychologist by profession. He holds a BSc Honours degree in Psychology and a Master's degree, both from the University of Zimbabwe. He is currently the Chief Vocational Counsellor at the Ministry of Labour and Social Welfare. Before joining the Ministry, he worked as a Clinical Psychologist at the Windhoek Central Hospital's Psychiatry Department, where he was involved in forensic psychiatric evaluations of mentally ill offenders. He runs a private practice in Windhoek where he sometimes carries out psychological assessments for legal purposes. He is currently enrolled for PhD studies in Clinical Psychology at the University of Namibia. E-mail: jmmudzanapabwe@mol.gov.na

Nkosi, Gugulethu obtained her LLB from the University of KwaZulu/Natal (South Africa) and an LL M from the University of the Witwatersrand (South Africa). She is currently pursuing her LL D at the University of South Africa (UNISA). Her research topic is "Social Security Regimes and Child Care in South Africa: A Legal Analysis". Ms Nkosi is a Senior Lecturer at UNISA's School of Law. Her research interests include African Indigenous Law and Social Security Law. Latest publications: Co-authored. 2007. "Indigenous African marriage and same-sex partnerships: Conflicts and controversies. International Journal of African Renaissance Studies, 2(2):200; Co-authored. 2007. "Registration of customary marriages under the Transkei Marriage Act: Wormald NO & Others v Kambule [2004] 3 All SA 392 (EC), Wormald NO & Others v Kambule 2006 (3) SA (SCA), and Kambule v Baduza & 7 Others 1833/2006 (EC). Speculum Juris, 2 (co-authored). E-mail: nkosigs@unisa.ac.za

Ntinda, Ruusa N is a student assistant at the Human Rights and Documentation Centre (HRDC) at the University of Namibia (UNAM). She is currently a third-year B Juris student at UNAM's Faculty of Law. She originated from the small village of Okapya in northern Namibia, and completed her secondary school education at Mureti High School in Opuwo. E-mail: ruusanntinda@hotmail.com

!Owoses-/Goagoses, Felicity obtained her B Juris and LL B degrees at the University of Namibia. She is currently a Legislative Drafter at the Ministry of Justice, responsible for drafting laws and scrutinising proposed laws for their constitutionality, amongst other things. In 2006, she obtained a Certificate in Legislative Drafting from the Institute of Advanced Legal Studies in London. She passed the Namibian Legal Practitioner's Qualifying examination in 2007. In 2008, she obtained a Certificate in Translating Policy into Legislation and Drafting from the Judicial and Legal Training Institute (ILKAP) in Malaysia. In 2009, she obtained a Certificate for having completed an International Senior Lawyers Project in Windhoek. She is a Member of the Commonwealth Association for Legislative Counsel. E-mail: feli@iway.na

Rogalska-Piechota, Agata holds the position of Expert on Human Rights Complaint Mechanisms and the Third Generation of Human Rights at the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of the Republic of Poland. She also serves as the Judicial Member of the Olsztyn Self-Government Board of Appeal (Poland). Ms Rogalska-Piechota graduated in law after studies at the Nicolas Copernicus University in Torun (Poland), subsequently passing the state Public Prosecutor's examination. She holds a postgraduate Diploma in Comparative Law from the Law Faculty of the Nicolas Copernicus University; a Diploma in International Human Rights Law from the Institute for Human Rights, Åbo Academi University, Turku (Finland), as well as from the Poznan Human Rights Centre at the Polish Academy of Sciences (Poznan); and a Diploma in European Human Rights Law from Viadrina European University, Frankfurt/Oder (Germany). Latest publications: Wołásiewicz, J (Ed.). [Forthcoming]. "Third Informal Seminar for Government Agents and Other Institutions on Pilot Judgments Procedure in the European Court of Human Rights and the Future Development of Human Rights, Warsaw, 14–15 May 2009; Concept of the 'Statute of the Court'". Warsaw: National School of Public Administration. E-mail: agata.rogalska@wp.pl

Ruppel, Oliver C is the Director of the Human Rights and Documentation Centre (HRDC) in Windhoek, and a Senior Lecturer at the Faculty of Law, University of Namibia (UNAM). His major field of specialisation is Public International Law. Human Rights Law, Environmental Law and Public Law Aspects of International Trade are his main areas of teaching and research. He is engaged in various national and international legal consultancies, is a founding member of the United Nations Environmental Programme (UNEP) Association of Environmental Law Lecturers in African Universities (ASSELLAU), Nairobi (Kenya); a member of the World Conservation Union (IUCN) Academy, Ottawa (Canada); and Regional Resource Person in Southern Africa for Trade and Environment to the World Trade Organisation (WTO), Geneva (Switzerland). Dr

Ruppel graduated in Law after studies at the Universities of Lausanne (Switzerland) and Munich (Germany). He holds an LL M in Public Law from the University of Stellenbosch (South Africa), a doctoral degree in Law from the University of Bratislava (Slovakia), and he was one of the first lawyers to be awarded the academic degree Master of Mediation (MM) from the University of Hagen (Germany) with a specialisation in economic and environmental extrajudicial dispute settlement. Furthermore, he holds a postgraduate Diploma in International Human Rights Law from Åbo Academi University, Turku (Finland), and a postgraduate Diploma from the Munich School of Philosophy SJ (Germany). At the moment he is also a Habilitation candidate (Public Law) at the Faculty of Law, University of Bremen (Germany). Latest publications: Ruppel, OC. 2009a. “Regional Economic Communities and human rights in East and Southern Africa”. In Bösl, A & J Diescho (Eds). Human rights in Africa. Legal perspectives on their protection and promotion. Windhoek: Macmillan Namibia, pp 284–318; Ruppel, OC. 2009b. “The SADC Tribunal, regional integration and human rights: Major challenges, legal dimensions and some comparative aspects from the European legal order”. In Recht in Afrika / Law in Africa. 2009/2. Köln: Köppe Verlag, pp 203–228. E-mail: ocruppel@unam.na; ruppel@mweb.com.na

Ruppel-Schlichting, Katharina G is the Business Manager and a Senior Legal Researcher at the Legal Research and Development Trust of Namibia in Windhoek. Dr Ruppel-Schlichting graduated in law after studies at the Universities of Passau and Munich (Germany). She holds a LL M degree from the University of Stellenbosch (South Africa), and a doctoral degree in Law from the University of Bratislava (Slovakia). Latest publications: Kanganje, A & K Ruppel-Schlichting. 2008. Manual Do Delegado De Lista / Angola – Election observer manual for the parliamentary elections 2008. Luanda: Konrad-Adenauer-Stiftung eV & Instituto de Desenvolvimento e Democracia; Visser, W & KGVS Ruppel-Schlichting. 2008. “Women and custom in Namibia – The legal setting”. In Ruppel, OC (Ed.). Women and custom in Namibia. Cultural practice versus gender equality?. Windhoek: Macmillan Namibia, pp 149–164. E-mail: katharina.ruppel@googlemail.com

Schulz, Stefan is Deputy Director (Academic) in the Department of Legal Studies at the Polytechnic of Namibia, where he has championed the development of the BA and Honours programmes in Criminal Justice Studies. The programme had its first student intake in 2009. At the Polytechnic of Namibia Dr Schulz has served in various positions, among others as Director of Rectorate Affairs (2007–2008). He also has extensive professional experience in the criminal justice system. From 1991 until he came to Namibia in 1997, he was Public Prosecutor, then District Judge, and eventually Senior Legal Officer in the Ministry of Justice in Mecklenburg-Vorpommern, Germany. He has specialised in the fields of Sociology of Crime and Criminology – with his particular field of interest being Theoretical Integration; Sociology of Law; Constitutional Law; and Human Rights Law. In his early career he was academic assistant at the Department of Public Law of Saarland University (Germany). He graduated in Law at the latter University, and holds a doctoral degree in Law from the University of Freiburg i.Br. (Germany). He is currently conducting a survey on fear of crime and punitive attitudes among Namibian university and college students. Latest publications: Schulz, S. 2006. Beyond self-control: Analysis and critique of Gottfredson and Hirschi's General Theory of Crime. Berlin: Duncker & Humblodt; Schulz, S. 2008. "Community service from a different angle". In Ministry of Safety and Security (Ed.). National Conference on Community Service. Windhoek: Government of the Republic of Namibia. E-mail: schulz@polytechnic.edu.na

Shipila, Pombili L holds a B Juris from the University of Namibia, where he is currently an LL B student. He is employed as a researcher at the University of Namibia's Human Rights and Documentation Centre. Mr Shipila was born in northern Namibia and completed his secondary education at Concordia College in Windhoek. He has participated in various Moot Court Competitions across the world, such as the prestigious Philip C Jessup International Law Moot Court Competition held annually in Washington, DC (USA), and the All-African Human Rights Law Moot Court Competition in Pretoria, South Africa. E-mail: pshipila@gmail.com

Silungwe, Annel M is an Acting Judge at the Windhoek High Court, and an Acting Judge at the Supreme Court of Namibia. Hon. Mr Justice Silungwe is the former Director of the Justice Training Centre at the University of Namibia, former Judge at the Court of Appeal in the Seychelles, former Chief Justice of Zambia, former State Counsel of Zambia, nominated Member of the Zambian Parliament, and former Minister of Legal Affairs and Attorney General of Zambia. Furthermore, he is Director and Member of the Advisory Board of the Commonwealth Judicial Education Institute, Halifax, Canada; Africa's Representative on the Board of Governors of the London Good Enough Trust for Overseas Graduates; Council Member of the World Jurist Association of the World Peace through Law Centre; and Regional Chairperson, Leonard Cheshire Disability, Southern African Region (including the Indian Ocean Islands). Hon. Justice Silungwe holds an LL M degree from the University of Zambia, and is a Barrister-at-Law of the Inner Temple, Council of Legal Education, London, United Kingdom. E-mail: musenga@iway.na

Stewart, Julie is the Director of the Southern and Eastern African Regional Centre for Women's Law (SEARCWL) at the University of Zimbabwe. For about ten years, the SEARCWL (previously the Women's Law Centre) ran a Regional Postgraduate Diploma Programme in Women's Law. In 2003, it was transformed into a Master's programme. The latter focuses on developing research and analytical skills in mature students of both sexes who work within the formal legal arena or in legally focused non-governmental organisations and similar bodies. Prof. Stewart's research interests are in women and customary law, and in women's and men's access to law in plural systems of law. Other complementary areas of research are in Inheritance Law, Family Law and Human Rights Law. Most of her publications are in the above areas and on the research methodologies that need to be developed to carry out this kind of investigative and innovative work. Latest publications: Stewart, J with Anne Hellum, Shaheen Sardar Ali & Amy Tsanga (Eds). 2007. Human rights, plural legalities and gendered realities: Paths are made by walking. Harare: Weaver Press; Stewart, J. 2007. “Arenas of anguish – Tracking multiple, perpetuating trauma in HIV/AIDS and gender-based violence intersections”. In Delpont, E (Ed.). Gender-based violence in Africa: Perspectives from the continent. Pretoria: Centre for Human Rights. E-mail: stewart@law.uz.ac.zw