

BUCKINGHAM PALACE

13th May, 1992

Dear Dr. Klepsch.

The Queen, during our journey home, asked me to be sure to write to you to thank you for your kindness and courtesy as her host, together with your wife, at the European Parliament yesterday. Her Majesty enjoyed her day with you very much indeed. It was a day full of intense interest, as evinced by the close attention which the British press have given it both yesterday and today.

The Queen asked me to enclose with this letter, and with her renewed thanks and appreciation, these signed photographs which she hopes you and your wife will like as mementos of the occasion.

Her Majesty herself will treasure the medal with which you presented her yesterday morning.

Yours sincerely
Robert Fellowes
