The importance of EU-LAC partnership

EU and LAC:

- two spaces populated by more than 1 billion inhabitants
- more than 60 countries: almost a third of the member states of the United Nations
- one quarter of the world's GDP

Challenges faced by the EU

Short-term:

Financial and economic crisis

• Long-term:

Economic shift to the Pacific and Indian oceans

- Asia's growing importance as a key economic player
- 2060: 50% of the global GDP produced in China and India
- Deep changes in the economic, security, energy and environment, migration sectors.

Demographic changes

- 2050: 10% of Europeans older than 80 and 50% older than 65
- Populations predictions in 2050

Europe: from 490m to 470m

LAC: from 588m to 729m

Challenges faced by LAC

- Dismemberment from the regional integration
 - failure of the ALCA negotiations
 - disintegration of the Group of Three
 - Venezuela's retreat from the Andean Community of Nations
 - Tensions between LAC neighbouring countries
- Inequality
 - Despite important economic growth of the region, LAC remains the continent with the greatest social disparity
