

Call for applications

Internship at CORRECTIV from September – November 2018 in Berlin

Have you ever thought about working as a journalist in Europe? Here comes the opportunity for you to work with the investigative newsroom CORRECTIV in Berlin.

The Adenauer Fellowship for Media & Communications will support one Asian investigative journalist to do an internship at CORRECTIV for three months. In the course of the internship you will publish a number of different stories together with reporters of CORRECTIV. The stories will be published in English and German language, and you are free to publish the stories additionally in your native language.

The future fellow should fulfil the following criteria:

- Asian citizen
- 35 years of age or below
- at least two years of experiences as a journalist
- first experiences in investigative journalism
- fluent in written and spoken English

The fellowship includes:

- Flight to and from Berlin
- EUR 2.000 per month for living costs and other costs (overseas health insurance/visa for Germany)

Information about application:

The internship will start on 3rd September 2018.

If you are interested, please apply via the Adenauer fellowship platform www.adenauer.careers. During the application process you will be asked to provide the following information:

1. CV
2. Cover letter explaining your experience in investigative journalism and main field of expertise
3. Two work samples

Deadline for the application is 18th June 2018.

About CORRECTIV

CORRECTIV is the first nonprofit investigative newsroom in the German-speaking world. Their goal is to give citizens access to information. They are one of the many answers to the media crisis. The old models of business are losing effectiveness. At the same time, journalists need to find better ways of explaining an increasingly complex world. Publishers are shutting down newspapers or cutting their budgets. Digital media has not been able to make up for this loss.

CORRECTIV wants to make investigative and informative journalism affordable and accessible to media organizations throughout Germany. CORRECTIV is exclusively financed through charitable endowments as well as donations from readers and users. In cooperation with various media, CORRECTIV shares its investigations and stories with large and small newspapers and magazines as well as with radio and TV stations. Beyond that, they look for innovative ways to publish larger stories on the internet. With no print or circulation costs, CORRECTIV focuses on content. The bulk of our funds go directly towards extensive investigative research. They want to uncover abuses of power and effectively strengthen our democracy. This requires investigative journalists who delve deep into the issues, work on a topic for years at a time and publish regularly – as well as interested and informed citizens who are concerned with these revelations.

For more information please visit their website: www.correctiv.org

About the Adenauer Fellowship

The Adenauer Fellowship for Media & Communications in Asia supports journalists and communication experts in their pursuit of excellence. It is part of the Konrad Adenauer Stiftung (KAS) Media Programme Asia, based in Singapore, that promotes a free, responsible and ethical press through fellowships, publications and events. Its mission is to strengthen the dialogue between the media and politics, as well as to monitor and highlight current media trends in the Asian region. Thereby, the Media Programme aims to connect politics, the media and the people to safeguard a value-based dialogue towards a free, ethical and responsible communication in Asia.

The foundation and fellowship is named after Konrad Adenauer (1876-1967) who was the first Chancellor of the Federal Republic of Germany. In this position, he united Christian social, conservative and liberal traditions.