

Authors' and Editors' Profiles 2008

Adelmann, Martin studied political science and geography in Canada (BA, Trent University), South Africa (BA (Hons), University of Pretoria) and Germany (MA and PhD, University of Freiburg). He is currently a researcher and executive assistant at Arnold-Bergstraesser-Institute (ABI) Freiburg and lecturer at the University of Freiburg, Germany. Since 2003 he has been involved in research, consultancy and teaching in the fields of development cooperation and regional cooperation with a regional focus on Southern Africa. Contact: martin.adelmann@gmx.de; www.arnold-bergstraesser.de.

Bösl, Anton is currently the representative of the Konrad Adenauer Foundation (KAF) to Namibia and Angola. He holds a PhD in Philosophy, Ludwig-Maximilians-University of Munich, Germany and a PhD in Theology, Albert-Ludwigs-University of Freiburg, Germany. He has written several publications (including monographs and articles) on international cooperation, good governance and African politics. Contact: boesl@kas-namibia.org.

Cattaneo, Nicolette is a senior lecturer in the Department of Economics and Economic History at Rhodes University and an Associate of the Trade Law Centre for Southern Africa. Her research interests are intra-industry trade and development, and regional integration. Contact: n.cattaneo@ru.ac.za.

Breytenbach, Willie (MA, Pret; Litt et Phil Unisa), has been a professor at the Department of Political Science, Stellenbosch University since 1991 and a part-time lecturer at Stellenbosch Graduate School of Business since 1993. He was previously employed at the University of Pretoria, the Africa Institute of South Africa and the Office of the Prime Minister. His fields of specialisation are African politics, democratisation, security cooperation, and the international political economy of Africa. Contact: wjb2@sun.ac.za.

Bangamwabo, Francois X is a lecturer at the Faculty of Law of the University of Namibia. He is engaged in various consultancies and research in the fields of international law and human rights law and has been involved in legal translation at the SADC Tribunal. After his legal studies in Zimbabwe he obtained a Bachelor of Laws degree (LLB) from the University of Zimbabwe and a Master of Laws degree (LLM) from the National University of Ireland. He is a registered legal practitioner in Zimbabwe. Mr Bangamwabo is currently a PhD candidate at the National University of Ireland.

Dube, Memory has just completed her Master of Laws degree at Rhodes University and is due to start an internship with Trade and Industrial Policy Strategies (TIPS), an economic research institution in Pretoria. Her thesis is on regional integration in the SADC region. She holds a Bachelor of Laws degree from the University of Fort Hare, awarded in 2007. She is particularly interested in regional trade issues and the development of economic law, public international law as well as human rights law. Contact: mmemoryd@gmail.com

Giuffrida, Leda is a governance and capacity building expert. Former Governance Programme Analyst for UNDP Malawi, at the time of writing her contribution she was working in the German Technical Cooperation (GTZ) supported programme on Governance, Reform and Effectiveness of the SADC Secretariat. She is currently working as an Advisor of the European Union Delegation to the African Union. She holds a Master's degree in International Economics from the Stockholm School of Economics. Contact: ledagiuffrida@yahoo.co.uk.

Jensen, Hans G is a researcher at the University of Copenhagen, Institute of Food and Resource Economics, International Economics and Policy Division. His field of expertise has focused on the Common Agricultural Policy, World Trade Organisation, European Union enlargement and general equilibrium modelling for the past ten years. He was awarded the Global Trade Analysis Project Research Fellow distinction in recognition of his significant contribution to the development of the GTAP database and is a member of the GTAP advisory board. He has published international articles focusing on the EU enlargement, the EU sugar regime, and the decoupling of domestic support in the EU among others. He has also had his work published in various book chapters. Contact: hans@foi.dk.

Hartzenberg, Trudi is the Executive Director of the Trade Law Centre for Southern Africa (tralac). She is an economist whose area of specialisation includes trade, industrial trade, industrial and competition policy, regional integration and industrial organisation. She has taught at the Universities of Natal, Cape Town, Western Cape and Copenhagen, as well as the Graduate School of Business at the University of Cape Town and the Copenhagen Business School. She has worked on assignment for a number of international institutions including the IMF, African Development Bank and the Commonwealth Secretariat. Contact: trudi@tralac.org.

Karuuombe, Barney is employed as a Regional Integration Officer at the SADC Parliamentary Forum, mainly to promote the role of Parliament in SADC integration and development. Apart from broad civil society experience he was formerly employed as a Deputy Director in Committee Services at the National Assembly of Namibia. He holds a Master's of Development Administration and Management from the University of Manchester and a Bachelor of Arts in Political Science and Sociology from the University of Namibia.

Kingah, Stephen is Associate Researcher at the Institute for European Studies (Vrije Universiteit Brussels) and at the United Nations University Cris Bruges. He has just completed a thesis on international/European Law and Policy on access to AIDS Medicines in Southern Africa. Contact: skingah@vub.ac.be.

Kurz, Sonja is holding a PHD in economics and works as a trade and economic policy advisor in a German funded project at SADC. She studied Economics in Germany, Great Britain and India and started her business career in the private sector, in the marketing department of Festo Lernzentrum GmbH. From 1999 to 2003 she worked for the Centre for European Economic Research in Mannheim, Germany. From 2003 to 2006 she was a senior economist at GTZ Headquarters in the department for economic policy and private sector development. She is specialised in the following areas: regional integration, trade, economic policy, private sector development and social security.

McCarthy, Colin is Professor Emeritus in Economics at the University of Stellenbosch where he is still on contract to teach graduate courses in international trade. He is a member of the South African International Trade Administration Commission and an Associate of the Trade Law Centre for Southern Africa. He has consulted widely on issues of trade policy and regional integration and has also published extensively in these fields. Contact: clmc@sun.ac.za.

Midgley, Rob is currently Deputy Vice-Chancellor: Academic Affairs and Research at the University of Fort Hare and a former professor and Dean of Law at Rhodes University. He holds BCom and LLB degrees from Rhodes University and a PhD from the University of Cape Town. Amongst others, he has taught commercial law and international law courses and has supervised a number of postgraduate students in International Trade Law. His own research concentrates on the South African law of delict (torts). He is also an experienced facilitator, focusing on environmental monitoring. Contact: rmidgley@ufh.ac.za.

Müller-Glodde, Helmut is an economist and industrial psychologist, with a degree from Mainz University, Germany. Since 1980 he has worked in policy, organisational development, strategic management (focusing on institutional capacity development) for Mercedes Benz and the German Technical Cooperation (GTZ) in four continents with public as well as private organisations. Since 2002 he has worked as a policy development and strategic management advisor within the SADC Secretariat, based in Botswana, supporting the SADC institutional reform process.

Mutambara, Tsitsi Effie is a senior lecturer at Rhodes University. She teaches the International Trade Theory and Policy course which is offered at third year level. Her research area of interest is regional economic integration. The paper published combines some of the work she did for both her Master's and PhD programmes. Contact: T.E.Mutambara@ru.ac.za.

Oppong, Richard Frimpong is a lecturer at the Lancaster University Law School where he teaches International Business Law and Institutions (WTO), International Business Structures and Regulation and International Human Rights Law. He holds degrees from the University of Ghana (LLB), Ghana School of Law (BL), University of Cambridge (LLM) and Harvard Law School (LLM). He is completing a PhD on economic integration in Africa at the University of British Columbia. His principal research areas are international economic law, legal aspects of economic integration in Africa and public and private international law in Africa. He has published extensively in these areas. Contact: r.oppong@lancaster.ac.uk; foppong2000@yahoo.com.

Osterkamp, Rigmar is currently advisor to the management and principal researcher, Namibian Economic Policy Research Unit (NEPRU).

Povel, Felix holds a Master's Degree in International Economics. Since September 2007 he has been a research associate at the Department of Economics of the Georg-August-Universität, Göttingen (Germany). Besides regional integration, his research interests include development economics, poverty and inequality, pro-poor growth and international development cooperation. Contact: felix.povel@gmx.de.

Ruppel, Oliver C is the director of the Human Rights and Documentation Centre (HRDC) at the Faculty of Law of the University of Namibia, where he also lectures. He is engaged in various national and international legal consultancies, is a founding member of the United Nations Environmental Programme's (UNEP) Association of Environmental Law Lecturers in African Universities (ASSELLAU), Nairobi (Kenya), a member of the International Conservation Union's (IUCN) Academy, Ottawa (Canada) and Regional Resource Person in Southern Africa for Trade and Environment to the World Trade Organisation (WTO), Geneva (Switzerland). Dr Ruppel graduated in law after studies at the Universities of Lausanne (Switzerland) and Munich (Germany). He holds a Master of Laws degree (LLM/Public Law) from the University of Stellenbosch (South Africa), a postgraduate degree in philosophy from the Munich School of Philosophy SJ (Germany), a doctoral degree in law from the University of Pressburg (Slovakia) and a Master of Mediation degree (MM) from the University of Hagen (Germany).

Sandrey, Ron is an associate at the Trade Law Centre for Southern Africa (tralac) and was Professor Extraordinaire at the Department of Agricultural Economics at the University of Stellenbosch. He came to Africa in 2005 following a career in New Zealand as an economist with the New Zealand Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Trade and the Ministry of Agriculture and Fisheries in that country. Since coming to South Africa he has worked extensively on trade and trade related issues in Southern Africa. He holds a PhD in Economics from Oregon State University. Contact: ronsandrey@tralac.org.

Smis, Stefaan is a professor of International Law at the Vrije Universiteit Brussel and reader in law at the school of law, Westminster University, London.

Soderbaum, Fredrik is an associate professor of Political Science at Goteborg University, Sweden. He is also an associate researcher at the UN University Cris Bruges.

Zampini, Daniela worked in Southern Africa until January 2009, as Expert on Multinational Enterprises and Social Policy at the Sub-regional Office of the International Labour Organisation (ILO). She is currently in Albania as ILO Chief Technical Adviser on Youth Employment and Migration. She has previously served in other international organisations, such as UNESCO and UNDP, non-governmental organisations and academia, travelling extensively in Europe, in the Middle East and in several African countries. She holds a PhD in Economics and Social History from Bocconi University (Italy) and other postgraduate degrees in economics and economic development from Bocconi University and the University of Glasgow (Scotland). Contact: zampini@ilo.org.

- - -