Translation: [Soldiers of the] Nigerian army and their militias killed and wounded and burning two of their vehicles in two attacks in Northern Nigeria.

ISWAP

This week the soldiers of the Caliphate killed and wounded a number of Nigerian soldiers and destroyed one of their vehicles. They also killed four of their supporting militia members and burned one of their vehicles in the area of (Borno) in the north-east of the country.

Four killed [in the ranks] of local militia

In detail: by the grace of God Almighty, on Thursday 19 Jumada al-Akhira, soldiers of the Caliphate attacked four members of supporting militia of the murtad Nigerian army with machine guns, in the village of (Marte) in the area of (Borno). They were killed and their vehicle was burned. A trusted source of an-Naba' added that the Mujahidin entered their camp and opened fire on them and killed them. Praise be God.

An opportunity for an attack on the Nigerian army

On the following day, Friday, the Mujahidin attacked a base of the murtad Nigerian army in the village of (Aziri) in the area of (Borno). They attacked them with machine guns and rocket propelled grenades. A number of them were killed and wounded and an armoured vehicle was destroyed. The Mujahidin captured a rifle and several machine guns. The media outlet of ISWAP sent pictures of the attack and the spoils of war. Praise be God.

The thwarted attack in pictures

After the attack governmental media showed pictures of vehicles and armoured vehicles and some weapons, in order to show that their troops thwarted the attack. In this regard, a source close to an-Naba' added that the vehicle and the weapons pictured were actually those captured by the Mujahidin during their attack. In their withdrawal, by daylight, they decided to leave it behind, despite the arrival of massive reinforcements in the area.

The source added that the vehicle was burned after it got stuck in a crevice on the bumpy road. So, the Mujahidin decided to burn it, so it could not be of any further use for the enemy. The source pointed out that the Nigerian army was looking for any opportunity to proof their achievement, even it was shown on the pictures [provided]. Praise be God.

They added that it was not just the Nigerian army who does this, all armies the Mujahidin fight are doing this for some reason.

Last week

During last week the soldiers of the Caliphate killed and wounded a number of Nigerian soldiers, destroyed two of their vehicles, captured a third one, and destroyed an army base. [This during] five different attacks and explosions targeting an army base and a patrol in the area of (Borno) in the North-East of the country.

“According to Radio France Internationale (RFI), the clan notables belonged to the Daoussahak community near the northern Malian town of Inékar, close to the borders with Niger. Though commonly referred to as a sub-section of the Tuareg due to common cultural and linguistic traits, the Daoussahak maintain they are an independent ethnic group in Mali’s north and predate many of the Tuareg in the area.”

Burkina Faso Tells French Troops to Leave

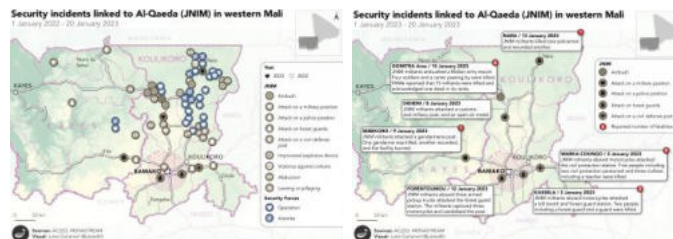

(source: <https://www.wsj.com/articles/burkina-faso-tells-french-troops-to-leave-11674503354>)

“French troops who have been fighting Islamist militants in Burkina Faso will have to leave the West African nation, the country’s communications minister said Monday, dealing another blow to Europe’s presence in a region where Russia’s influence is growing. The decision by the government in Ouagadougou to abandon its military alliance with its former colonial power comes five months after France completed its withdrawal from neighboring Mali, which in 2021 hired the Russian paramilitary Wagner Group to support its war against jihadists affiliated with al Qaeda and Islamic State.”

Translation: The call of the mujahideen in the way of God continues to gain more supporters and backers, thanks to God Almighty alone, despite the media demonization campaigns practiced by the masters of the contemporary Zionist and Crusade campaign against Islam. The media of the Mujahideen of West Africa conveyed the good news of the allegiance of the Azawagh tribes in the state of (Meneka) to the Mujahideen of Al-Qaeda and to the virtuous Sheikh Iyad Ag Ghali, may God protect him. The pledge of allegiance of the proud Muslim tribes and their rallying around their mujahideen sons means a lot, praise be God. It means that the countries of the cross did not succeed in isolating the mujahideen from their popular base, and it means that these proud Muslim tribes will be aid and support for their mujahideen children. The arrival of jihad in West Africa to this blessed stage in managing the conflict is a pure success from God Almighty to the mujahideen fighting for the cause of God who aborted the project of the cross in the region and spread awareness among Muslims. The countries of the cross and their followers have sought with all their might to break the thorn of the mujahideen in the cause of God in West Africa, but they were unable, praise and gratitude be to God, in order to empty the arena for them, so that they continue to occupy our country, violate our honour, plunder our wealth, and impose their malicious projects on us. The Muslim tribes in West Africa have seen with their own eyes what the sons of France are doing on the one hand, and what their mujahideen sons are doing on the other hand, so they decided to align themselves with the ranks of the people of truth, goodness, and virtue.

Al-Qaeda Branch Emir Makes Rare Appearance in Menaka, Mali: What This Means for Islamic State in the Sahel

(source: https://www.militantwire.com/p/al-qaeda-branch-emir-makes-rare-appearance?publication_id=490119&isFreemail=false)

“Over two days starting on 22 January 2023, Al-Qaeda’s branch, the Group for Support of Islam and Muslims (JNIM), released footage through its media wing Az-Zallaqa on Chirp Wire showing notable tribal figures pledging allegiance to JNIM emir Iyad Ag Ghaly, who was present at the ceremony. Az-Zallaqa said that the men were from the “Azawagh tribe” in Mali’s Menaka region. In one image, Ag Ghaly appeared to be sitting at the center of the group surrounded by a few men dressed in Tuareg attire. Other images depicted weapons, technicals (vehicles with mounted guns), and several militants carrying AK-type rifles. However, the significance of the footage comes from its timing, the location, and the presence of Ag Ghaly himself in the Menaka region.

The appearances of Ag Ghaly (AKA Abu Al-Fadel) are rare. They usually occur in the Kidal region, the stronghold of the separatist Tuaregs, mainly the National Movement for the Liberation of Azawad in northern Mali on the border with Algeria. Ag Ghaly shares tribal ties with the separatists, and the latter is often accused of cooperating with him or concealing his whereabouts.”
