

CC governance in Southern Africa after Cop21

Prof Godwell Nhamo (8 March 2016)

1. Global development agenda has been collapsed into four quadrants namely: SDGs, AAAA, Paris Agreement and SENDAI Disaster Risk Reduction Framework – and Southern Africa must address climate governance in this complex scenario (including our own A2063)
2. However, @ 21, we expect maturity in climate governance
3. Africa remains a dark continent in terms of energy security
4. There is no climate policy or strategy for Southern Africa - SADC
5. Gaps in national CC policies and governance with countries at different levels
6. Big brother fear of dominance in regional CC governance by South Africa, looked at with suspicion
7. Strong push for adaptation (inclusive of L&D) than mitigation
8. Traditional challenges on CC equity – going back to basics of the Rio (polluter pays) and UNFCCC (common but differentiated responsibilities and capabilities)
9. Cop 21 has the good (we have a deal), the bad (deal quasi legally binding – need to avoid another KP) and the ugly (promised money comes in trickles)
10. Need to be careful of the half a loaf is better than nothing disease - see World Bank and other divisive climate funding
11. Can Southern Africa make powerful nations accountable? – No
12. None CC matters with a CC governance bearing - eg Xenophobic attacks, when should long serving leaders go?
13. We have the colonial baggage - Anglo, Franco and Portuguese ell wants.
France hosted its own Africa pavilion compared to Uneca's pavilion on Paris
14. Deal breakers: No agriculture, No mining, NO DEAL – now and into the future
15. Climate governance requires well-oiled good governance machineries in SADC
16. Value chains, value addition, localization of technologies and the land issue
17. A call to avoid having the new climate deal as a non-tariff barrier
18. Need to watch for Group of 2 in climate negotiations (China & USA)
19. Challenges with local government and CC
20. From here comrades, we might be on our own!!
