

Professor Susan Booysen

Professor at the Wits School of Governance, University of the Witwatersrand

Booyesen's current academic designation is Professor at the Graduate School of Public and Development Management (P&DM), University of the Witwatersrand, Johannesburg.

Her areas of specialisation are South African and Southern African politics and policy, elections, comparative politics of Southern Africa (with a special emphasis on democracy, governance, policy and elections) and research methodology.

She is the author of The African National Congress and the Regeneration of Political Power (2011); Local elections in South Africa: Parties, people, politics (ed., 2012) and The ANC's March on Mangaung (2012). Co-edited Democracy and Elections in Southern Africa (2009) with Denis Kadima.

She holds a D.Litt. et Phil. from the University of Johannesburg (1988).

Major research fellowships include a post-doctoral fellowship at the Southern African Research Program (SARP) at Yale University, USA.

She is the former president of the South African Association of Political Studies (SAAPS).

Published more than 40 refereed academic articles (both in national and international journals), chapters in books and monographs.

Concluded more than 30 full-scale research projects and has presented well over 50 papers at national and international conferences in Political Studies, Policy Studies and related disciplines. She works as media commentator and analyst.

On the editorial board of the South African Journal of Political Studies, Politikon, and is a contributing editor to the Johannesburg newspaper The Star and columnist for The Sunday Independent.