

- INVITATION -

The South African Institute of International Affairs (SAIIA) and the Konrad Adenauer Stiftung (KAS)

cordially invites you to a Speaker's meeting to be addressed on

'Managing Migration from Sub-Saharan Africa: the developmental approach'

Keynote Speaker: Miranda Madikane, Director of Scalabrini Centre

Discussant: Sibusiso Nkomo, Senior Project Leader of Afrobarometer Project, Institute for Justice and Reconciliation

Venue: The Mountain Club of South Africa, 97 Hatfield Street, Gardens, Cape Town

Date: Thursday 22 March 2018

Time: 17h30 for 18h00 to be concluded by 19h30 (Light refreshments will be served before the event)

RSVP: To confirm your attendance, please register here.

Parking: Freely available on Hatfield Street

Entrance: non-members R40 and students free on presentation of a current student identity card.

Miranda Madikane is a graduate of the University of Cape Town with a BA in English and Drama. As a young graduate, she worked as a stage manager at most of the big theatres in Cape Town. Thereafter she worked as a communications officer for Pro Helvetia, the Swiss Arts Council and also for Scalabrini Centre as Development Manager. She took over the Directorship of Scalabrini Centre in 2007 and has led the organisation ever since.

Sibusiso Nkomo is senior project leader in the Research and Policy Programme at the Institute for Justice and Reconciliation in Cape Town. He works on the Afrobarometer project's strategic communications and partnerships. He is a former journalist and worked for Independent Media for some years and then moved into research at Good Governance Africa in Johannesburg. He was educated at Stellenbosch University and the University of Witwatersrand and holds a BA, postgraduate diploma and a MA.

For more information, please contact Pippa on wcbbranch@saiia.org.za or 0833052339.