

South African Reconciliation Barometer (SARB) Online Analysis Tool launch

About

The Institute for Justice and Reconciliation's (IJR) South African Reconciliation Barometer (SARB) is the longest running public opinion survey that gauges public sentiment on reconciliation and social cohesion in South Africa. Since 2003, the IJR has conducted 15 rounds of the survey, which makes it an essential resource for those who seek to understand how ordinary South Africans are adapting in a post-apartheid South Africa. On the 20th of September, the Institute will for the first time make this data publicly available, through the launch of a free online analysis tool. The IJR, with the generous support of the Konrad-Adenauer-Stiftung (KAS), invites you to this launch, which will include an interactive training session, at the Cape Town Science Centre's multi-media room. We look forward to see you there.

Key Information

Date: 20 September 2018

Time: 12.00 for 12.30-13.30

Venue: Cape Town Science Centre, 370B Main Rd, Observatory, 7925

Programme

12:00 - Registration and refreshments

12:30 - Welcome

Stanley Henkeman – Executive Director, Institute for Justice and Reconciliation (IJR)

Christina Teichmann - Project Manager, Konrad-Adenauer-Stiftung (KAS)

12:40 - Introduction to the SARB and the SARB Online Analysis Tool

Elnari Potgieter – Senior Project Manager, SA Reconciliation Barometer

12:50 - Interactive Demonstration of the SARB tool

Elnari Potgieter – Senior Project Manager, SA Reconciliation Barometer

13:15 - Q&A

13:30 - Closing