

POLITICAL SUMMIT

Electoral Accountability in Africa

Almost half of the African continent will be holding elections this year. In the past, some African elections have often been marred by controversy. Elections is one of the many mechanisms of accountability. However, what happens when elections fail and how do we keep politicians accountable post elections? Join us as we discuss the state of electoral accountability in Africa. This two day event will see activists, Members of Parliament and Electoral Commissioners from across Africa discussing elections, alternative mechanisms of accountability and reform. You don't want to miss being a part of this continental agenda.
