

Draft Program for a Discussion on Promotion of Best Practices in Local Good Governance

1. Introduction

One way to improve local good governance practices is to learn from and replicate best, good and successful practices being achieved by sub-national administrations/LGs and/or community groups. In Cambodia, there are those practices/achievements in various aspects including LED, local and institutional governance as well as CBNRM. Therefore, it is vital to map and document those achievements in an adequate format and share them effectively for potential replication and promote greater impact.

2. Meeting Objective

Recognizing the importance of the above approach to recognize and promote best practices, the meeting aims to carter an opportunity for brainstorming and decision on:

- Work plan and funding issues
- Identification of appropriate institution(s) for sustaining the mapping, documentation, dissemination and monitoring of replication, its (their) mandate and TOR'S

3. Expected Outputs

- Agreement reached on responsible Cambodia institution to lead the process
- Development partners informed
