

Mongolia and Germany host a forum on responsibility in the market economy

A Mongolia-Germany forum of Responsibility in the Market Economy was organized by the Konrad Adenauer Foundation (KAS) at the Best Western Premier Tuushin Hotel this week.

The forum featured top Mongolian officials, such as the President of Mongolia Ts.Elbegdorj and the first President of Mongolia, P.Ochirbat, who is the chairman of the Mongolia-Germany forum. Other participants will include; Minister of Foreign Affairs, L.Bold, Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary of Germany to Mongolia, Gerhard Thiedemann, and the former head of the Office of the Federal President, former State Secretary and Secretary General of KAS, Wilhelm Staudacher.

"The Konrad Adenauer Foundation is one of the organizations that works closest with the Mongolian people. No matter which province or soum you go to, there are always residents who've taken part in training programs organized by KAS," said President Ts.Elbegdorj in his speech at the forum. "The foundation has made an enormous investment in Mongolia's democracy. Responsibility in the market economy is a vital issue that must be addressed in Mongolia," he added.
