

October 31, 2011

Dear Colleague:

The Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars and the Konrad Adenauer Stiftung (KAS), Washington Office, are pleased to invite you to a discussion of:

Following the Money Trail in Central America:
Money Laundering and Implications in Regional Security

Wednesday, November 9, 2011
12:30 pm – 2:30 pm

A light lunch will be served

Fifth Floor Conference Room
Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars
1300 Pennsylvania Avenue, N.W.

Members of the Red Centroamericana de Pensamientos e Incidencia (laRED), a network of Central American research and policy organizations, will join us to discuss their recently published paper, “Following the Money Trail in Central America: Money Laundering and Implications for Regional Security.” With the support of the Konrad Adenauer Stiftung, a distinguished panel of experts and contributors to the publication are traveling to Washington to present their findings:

Eduardo Stein, Coordinator, laRED; former Vice President of Guatemala

Enrique Sáenz, Fundación para el Desarrollo de Centro América (FUNDESCA)

Tjark Egenhoff, KAS Representative for Guatemala, Honduras, El Salvador

Moderator: Cynthia J. Arnson, Director, Latin American Program, Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars

Please click here to RSVP, or email acceptances only to lap@wilsoncenter.org. We hope you will be able to join us for this important discussion.

Sincerely,
