CALL FOR APPLICATIONS

DIALOGGERS.EU – GREEK-GERMAN JOURNALIST WORKSHOP

GREECE LOOKS INTO THE FUTURE:

HOW THE CRISIS HAS AFFECTED THE COUNTRY

THESSALONIKI | 30 SEPTEMBER – 05 OCTOBER 2018

The Konrad-Adenauer-Stiftung Greece Office organizes its 7th Greek-German Journalist Workshop. The project will take place for the first time in Thessaloniki, Northern Greece. The call is open to Greek young journalists or journalism students, age 33 or under.

WHAT IS IT ABOUT?

Since October 2012 KAS Athens has organized 6 Greek-German Media Workshops in Athens, Berlin and Brussels. Greek and German journalists work together in team of 2 on topics of common concern, serving the European public interest. This time KAS Athens calls young Greek journalists to apply for the workshop in Thessaloniki at a turning point for Greece. The period of the memoranda is coming to an end and the country is preparing to stand on its own feet again. We will deal with different aspects of the effects of the crisis on the society and the perspectives for the future, also in the framework of other challenges that the Greek society has been faced with in the last years (such as migration etc.).

During the workshop we use all methods of powerful storytelling, be it in written form, multimedia, video, or slideshow. Assistance for video storytelling will be provided. Journalists are expected to work in binational teams on the same topic, producing two different articles, one Greek and one German. For accommodation a Greek and a German participant will share a room with separate beds.

WHO CAN APPLY?

Young Greek journalists and journalism students with good command of English are invited to apply. Participants of previous dialoggers workshops are welcome to apply too.

HOW CAN I APPLY?

Please send us your application to info.athen@kas.de by August 22th 2018. Your motivation letter should include an explanation why you want to participate (eg. a keen interest in a particular European issue, a personal experience over Greek- German cooperation, or interest in media relations).
