Panel I:

Blurring the Truth – Disinformation in Southeast Europe

Content: What is the state of disinformation in Southeast Europe? Which are the main actors? What are the most common narratives and whose interests do they serve? This first panel will be dedicated to all of these questions and should build the foundation for the further discussions. The panelists include well-known journalists and media experts from the region. All of them are authors in the newest publication of the Media Programme of the Konrad-Adenauer-Stiftung “Blurring the Truth – Disinformation in Southeast Europe”.

Panel II:

The Good, the Bad and the Media: Journalists and Disinformation

Content: Without a doubt, disinformation, propaganda and fake news play an essential role in the everyday work of media. In this sense, media – as one of the most important remedies against disinformation, can contribute to higher media literacy and better fact-checking skills. Or the opposite – it can function as a channel for disinformation. The second panel of the conference will focus on the impact of disinformation on media outlets on a daily basis. It will discuss the good, the bad and where media should stand.
