

10th Anniversary of KAS PolDiMed: Renewed Mediterranean Agenda: Partnerships for Efficiency, Synergies for Positive Impact

Since its launch in 2015, the Konrad-Adenauer-Stiftung Regional Program Political Dialogue South Mediterranean (KAS PolDiMed) has become a key platform for dialogue on the political, security, economic, and social transformations shaping the Mediterranean. Over the past decade, the program has, through a variety of formats, connected policymakers, academics, business leaders, and young leaders from both shores, fostering shared understanding and practical cooperation on key regional challenges, ranging from governance, regional security and migration to youth participation, employment, and economic reforms.

Reflecting on its expertise accumulated over the past decade, and with the valuable collaboration of partners across the broader Mediterranean, KAS PolDiMed seeks to offer a platform to assess the state of networking in the region, examining both the challenges that limit cooperation and the opportunities that can enhance trans-Mediterranean collaboration.

To mark the 10th anniversary of KAS PolDiMed, a regional conference titled “Renewed Mediterranean Agenda: Partnerships for Efficiency, Synergies for Positive Impact” will take place from December 3 to 6, 2025, in Tunisia. The event will bring together partners, experts, and stakeholders from across the Mediterranean to celebrate a decade of dialogue and discuss the way forward in shaping a shared vision. Such an exercise requires exploring new forms of cooperation at the institutional, civil society, business, and local levels.
