Wind and Solar Power from the desert – perspectives for North Africa and Europe

Wind and solar power from the desert areas of North Africa exported to Europe has become the subject of visionary dreams also widely reflected in the media. But what is happening in real terms in the MENA countries? What is pushing renewable energy there – local demand or any export perspective? How important is the role of the EU and European financial institutions in the support to solar and wind power development in the region? Join us on:

Wednesday, 13 November 2013
