The Konrad-Adenauer-Stiftung and TenneT, Europe's first cross-border electricity transmission system operator (TSO), jointly invite

Adenauer-Forum:
„European Grid Development in times of the Energiewende– Sustainable models for dialogue and participation“

held on Monday, 04 November 2013 at 07:00 p.m.

Dinner-Roundtable with presentations by

Lex Hartman

Member of the Management Board, TenneT B.V.

Dr. Markus Schulte

Cabinet Günther Oettinger – Commissioner for Energy

Acceptance is the key factor in the fast development of grid development. Whether acceptance will be achieved, heavily depends on how the dialogue with the affected public and citizens is shaped. In Germany and the Netherlands, TenneT is able to look back onto projects where acceptance for new transmission lines was significantly improved and where the approval process could be accelerated. The topic is also relevant for the European Commission in order to accelerate the development of the European network deployment.

We would like to discuss with you the cornerstone of successful public participation and to reason how to increase acceptance for large infrastructure projects. Therefore we cordially invite you to our Adenauer-Forum! Please register by October 28th, 2013 with Ms. Nicola Krippel (assistent1.bruessel@kas.de).

We are looking forward to welcoming you in our offices
