The Film

A young man, Mwas (Joseph Wairimu) still lives with his parents in their rural home in Kenya. He makes a living by selling western action films; he dramatically acts and portrays most of the action figures in his films in order to entice his customers. He is an aspiring actor and when he comes across a group of actors from Nairobi performing in his town, he asks one of them to help him jump start his acting career. He is very excited and after receiving some money from his mother he embarks on his journey to Nairobi with a brief stopover in his town to bid his friends goodbye.

The Speaker

Mrs. Gorretty Ajwang is the Project Co-ordinator at Ujamaa Family Centre in Mukuru Kwa Njenga and also a part time Psychological counselor at Cottolengo children Centre in Karen, St Paul children centre- Embul-bul and Brydges Children centre in Kajiado. She is also a community trainer and mobilizer. She has worked with different organizations that target marginalized communities and destitute children and families as well. She is well versed with life in the informal settlements in the urban areas more so, the city of Nairobi.
